

- * Baby Tiddley Winks and her friends like to play with all the toys in the Nursery.
- * She likes to have her hair brushed in front of the mirror. Don't forget to tie it with a pretty ribbon, too.
- * Read her a bedtime story while she rocks back and forth in her rocker.
- * When it's time for a nap, rock her to sleep in her cradle while the mobile above her head helps her drift off into dreamland.

Tiddley-Winks™ and the Lullabye Nursery™

Every morning at one minute before sunrise, the clouds magically separate to greet the ponies arriving at the Lullabye Nursery. Inside this enchanting house, delightful surprises await them.

Tiddley-Winks, the Baby Pony, lives in the Lullabye Nursery and prepares an afternoon tea party for all the ponies. After tea and crumpets, they play their favorite games.

One day while riding the lullabye swing high into the air, Tiddley-Winks wished she could swing high enough to touch the rainbow. "Hop on me, Tiddley-Winks, and I'll carry you to the rainbow," called a big, white, fluffy cloud as it floated down to the swing. Tiddley-Winks jumped on the cloud and rode it like a magic carpet all around ponyland.

"Look! There's the rainbow," she said with a spark of excitement. As she spoke, the rainbow dipped down and tied a pretty lace bib around her neck.

That night, when the ponies gathered to tell bedtime stories in the nursery, Tiddley-Winks told everyone of her adventure with the rainbow.
